

Boox Square

The world's first display designed for books and magazines is now square.

Boox represents a brand new category in the universe of interior goods providing a wide range of display possibilities for books and magazines aimed not only for home but also for other spaces like offices, shops, libraries, museums, galleries, hotels, restaurants or bars. Its revolutionary suspension system through rubber balls can also be used to display other kind of flat objects such as vinyl albums, fabrics, drawings or printed photos. Boox Square is a remarkable design evolution from the original rectangular Boox.

This eye-catching new format with thicker acrylic and open sides brings new amazing features that enhance the possibilities of this unique display system.

This is how it works: 1 Place the content inside. 2 Pinch the balls behind it. 3 Hang it or stand it. Simple and beautiful.
